Commissioners --

I've been doing my best to follow the development of the Community Solar program. I am a retired homeowner, I live in northeast Portland, and I want to do my share to reduce the serious threat of global warming.

I have been unable to install solar panels on my home. The roof is not strong enough and is shaded by my neighbor's trees.

I would very much like to participate with my neighbors in a community solar project.

It has been quite a challenge to follow the development of this program. It seems like it is taking a very long time to get started. The discussion is rightfully led by experts in solar power and setting rates for electricity. That's not me.

I'm just a normal citizen who wants to do the right thing. I want to get my electricity from a non-polluting renewable source. I'm quite sure there are a lot of people like me who will participate in community solar, if we can ever get it going and make it financially feasible.

I write to encourage you to set a bill credit rate soon, and one which will provide significant financial incentives for someone like me to participate.

Thank you.
