PGE 300, page 10, lines 9-11 states, “The cost to supply non-running station service load, whether by backfeed, direct interconnection, or other means, is part of PGE’s cost of providing service and is not reflected elsewhere in PGE’s 2009 test year revenue requirement...”

Upon further research in June 2008, we discovered that at least a portion of Colstrip’s non-running station service load might already be reflected in our current modeling of Colstrip’s
