The Coalition was established in 2009 and is comprised of about forty members who own and operate over fifty qualifying facilities (“QFs”) or are attempting to develop new QF projects in Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming.

Idaho Power’s 2023 integrated resource plan (“IRP”) could have a direct and substantial impact on the Coalition’s members. The IRP represents Idaho Power’s commitment to develop a long-term resource plan that considers cost, risk, uncertainty, and the long-run public interest. The IRP will form the foundation for Idaho Power’s future generation, demand side management, and transmission investments.

The IRP will impact Idaho Power’s retail rates as well as its avoided cost rates for QFs that sell power under the Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act (“PURPA”). The Coalition’s members are QFs that have (or intend to have) power purchase agreements with Oregon utilities with rates based on its avoided costs. Most of the Coalition’s members are existing projects that have been operating and selling to utilities for numerous years; however, many members are attempting to construct new renewable energy projects. Without intervention, the Coalition would not have the ability to participate in the proceeding, which could result in material harm to its members.

The Coalition has participated in numerous regulatory proceedings intended to promote competitive markets, PURPA, renewable energy, and diversity of generation ownership, including all the recent major proceedings regarding qualifying facility contract and rate eligibility. The Coalition's intervention will assist the Commission in resolving the issues and will not unreasonably broaden the issues, burden the record, or delay this proceeding. Finally, the Coalition's interest is not adequately represented by any other party in this proceeding.

WHEREFORE, the Coalition respectfully requests that the Commission grant its petition to intervene with full party status in this proceeding and to appear and participate in all matters as may be necessary and appropriate; and to present evidence, call and examine witnesses, cross-examine witnesses, present argument, and to otherwise fully participate in the proceedings.

Dated this 6th day of October 2023.

Respectfully submitted,

Irion Sanger
