Dear Stakeholders,

This letter provides an update on the AR 641 rulemaking. In August of this year, I proposed an alternative schedule in this rulemaking that would accommodate incorporation of learning from our docket and discovery replacement project.

I provide this update to note that the timeline for this project has slowed as we work with our contractor to develop this new tool which will affect all external stakeholders, and which will also affect our internal filing operations.

Accordingly, I'd like to clearly inform stakeholders that we are holding this rulemaking back at this time, until our docket and discovery replacement project is to a state where we can provide access to the new tools to stakeholders. Because this new tool could change our filing procedures, it is important that stakeholders have access to it before this rulemaking progresses and further changes to existing rules are proposed.

Please let me know if you have any questions,
